COLLEGE BOYS TIE JUNIORS TO TREES IN PARK

While Members of Class Were Prisoners Their Fine Banquet Was Devoured.

Those jolly college boys, members of Columbia College Pharmacy Department, which does not include a course of soda-fountain training, pulled off another of their merry jests last night. and to-day are telling about it as the rippingest thing that has happened in a long time.

class were kidnapped just before their banquet, which was to have been held in Reisenweber's, last night, and were tied to trees in Morningside Park.
Then the fifteen seniors who had performed the feat of valor went to the restaurant and ate up the banquet the juniors had ordered and paid for.

In the mean time the president of the dreshmen. James Dice, had shaken himself loose from a bed the merry, merry seniors had tied him to and he told the principal of the class, Prof. Beekman.

The professor started down after the humorists, who were getting away with dce cream and champagne in the quicksest way imaginable. The professor told the bad boys that the thing must stop, and so they all went home to bed.

Most of the juniors got loose after their classmates, who had not played a part in the evening's fun, could get to

PHONED POLICE AND THEN FAINTED

Julia Wetzel Saw Burglars in Church, but Reserves Found No One.

If Julia Wetzel had only fainted before instead of after she had telephoned the West Forty-seventh street police station that there were two burglars in the Second German Baptist Church, No. 407 West Forty-third street, a lot of folks wouldn't feel such a loss of sleep to-day.

Julia is a servant of the household of the Rev. Eckert Umbach, in the pareonage adjoining the church, and is not in the habit of seeing things unless

So when she saw the two men sneak into the church late last night she telephoned the police and fell in a faint. When Lieut. Paimer and nineteen po licemen arrived she became hysterical at the sight of such an array of nightsticks and revolvers as were brought into view as the cavalcade filed into the
